

The devil is in the details

Small elements + Big picture = Complete streets

"Designing safe, efficient, and economically sound roadways benefits my family, my neighbors, and the community around us."

- Jason Watson

"A little bit of perseverance comes in handy while you're in the middle of planning and construction. You need the organizational, political, and business leadership to support changing a community."

- Sheina Hughes

"Pavement striping. Signage. Lighting. All of these elements contribute to developing a roadway that's safe for cars, pedestrians, and cyclists."

- Vinay Vanapalli

"Unique design. Safe multimodal travel. Distinctive and creative techniques. Looking beyond the roadway and designing with community in mind is what brings me into work in the morning."

- Laura Sewell
